SENATOR BEVERIDGE SPEAKS TOMORROW MORNING AT 8:45

GREATEST DAY OF ALL COMING

Biggest and Most Attractive Political Event Ever Conceived in Rush County.

'TIS WATSON DAY SATURDAY.

Ye Olden Time Demonstration Will Be Supplemented With Many New and Novel Features.

On every hand activity rules the day in the Republican ranks. Not only is the county committee putting forth every honorable method to secure Republican votes, but all over Rush county the loyal members of the G. O. P. are shaping up matters for the big doings next Saturday.

It is planned to have each township send in a delegation and a large woolen flag will be presented to the one making the best showing.

Four bands of music have been engaged and drum corps to your heart's content will be on hand to "beat the band."

The Watson Club will march for the first time and the Old Soldiers Watson club will occupy a prominent place of honor in the great parade, carrying on high their battle tattered flag.

As many fancy turnouts and decorated vehicles will be secured and all are invited to decorate and get in line. School children, farmers, laborers, business men, clubs, professional men, all will be happy participants of the greatest political demonstration ever given in Rushville or for that matter, any city its size in the country.

For it is going to be Watson's Day. The monster parade will be given at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and all the old time stunts of former campaigns will be revived. It will be remembered and talked about for years to come.

County Chairman Frazee will be pleased to receive suggestions and assistance and anyone desiring to offer any novel means of making the parade or day more attractive, the same will be gladly received.

As it is to be the Barnum of all events it will take the brains and manual labor of many to make it a success. Looking toward that end a number of committees have been appointed to attend to the different departments. Capt. J. M. Gwinn will be grand marshal of the parade and will be assisted by a number of worthy aids-de-camp. Following is list of committees:

Old Soldiers' Committee—Jabez Smith, J. M. Stevens, Frank Redman, John Fleehart.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with probably showers in north portion.

CALL TO MOTHERS WIVES AND SISTERS

Never before has there been a campaign when the mothers of Indiana were so vitally interested as the present one. There is a great moral question at stake and inasmuch as the brewers and saloon men are making such a desperate fight, it behooves all mothers, wives, and sisters to exert every influence possible to secure votes for the Republican cause and the continuance of the county option law and all other good laws tending towards regulation and extermination. Is there any argument that can be produced in favor of the saloon; or why the brewers of this State should control and dictate in politics? One death from a drunken fight or one mother's son filling a drunkard's grave is enough argument to overshadow everything good that could be said about saloons in one hundred years. True, there are many good Democratic fathers, and mothers who believe as their husbands, who think Democracy is right, but surely they can see something is wrong this year when all the saloon men and the big brewers are doing everything in their power to have Marshall and a Democratic legislative ticket elected. Void of all principle they are not stopping at anything in their mad desire to secure control.

Around the fireside where all the great questions are finally settled—those that are settled right—think on this proposition, sanely and soberly, and see if you do not conclude every loving father and self-respecting brother should cast his vote for Watson, Senator Moore and Will Jay, against the brewers who drag men's souls down to perdition for the sake of gold. It is a battle for a principle.

PASSES INTO THE SHADOWS

Louise Dawson, Five Months Old
Dies of Cholera Infantum.

Louise, the five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dawson, died last night at their home in Orange of cholera infantum. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the residence in Orange at 2 o'clock. Burial will occur in Orange cemetery.

EVEN BREAK IN HORSE SHOW

Promoters Have Enough Money to Pay Out Dollar for Dollar.

The managers of the Fall Horse Show met today to close up the business end of the event. Financially, the show will pay out about even, of which the promoters are justly proud, it being the first one held here.

WILL RECEIVE BEVERIDGE.

Nathan Weeks, Taylor Kitchen, Ab Denning, Will Bliss and Homer Powell will form a reception committee that will go to Connersville tomorrow morning to meet Senator Beveridge and accompany him here on the special train.

GOBLINS WILL GET YOU SURE

Annual Festival Will be Supplanted
This Year With Big Watson Rally.

ORIGIN OF THE FESTIVAL

Was Originally the Druid's Harvest Festival, But Now a Fete of Revelry and Fun.

Next Saturday is Hallowe'en and Rushville, as usual, will celebrate the festival. The downtown streets, as in former years, will doubtless be paraded by hundreds of people attired in grotesque costumes and bent on having fun. In addition to the big Republican rally will be held, and no doubt more people will be in this city than on any previous occasion since its birth.

In the homes the customary Hallowe'en parties will hold sway, the hostesses providing entertainments, which include the display of pumpkin torches, the roasting of nuts, strange ceremonies with apples and the telling of ghost stories in the fire light; but these will be held earlier in the evening on account of the big Watson meeting.

Hallowe'en has been the great harvest festival since the first garden was planted. It was one of the festivals celebrated by the Druids—May 1 the planting, June 21, the ripening, and greatest of all, October 31, the harvesting. In the days of pagan Rome, October 1, was the feast of Pomona.

Also in this day the Druids had renewed the sacred fires, for the long winter to come. Then, as fires is the preventive of two great evils, cold and hunger, it came in time to be thought of as preventing other evils that live in the air and sky—pixies, fairies, ghouls, ghosts and goblins, so that even as late as the seventeenth century farmers made the rounds of their farms swinging fire torches and singing solemn doggerel to prevent the uncanny ones from casting a spell upon the crops.

Therefore when we of today bring out the jack-o-lantern, sit by the fire turning apples on a spit to weird rhymes, and roast nuts in pairs while listening to ghostly tales—we are uniting traditions of at least three religions and doing that in fun which was once a most solemn ceremony.

CANDIDATE'S WIFE IS ILL

Mrs. J. Oscar Hall Suffering With Bronchial Trouble.

Shelbyville News: Mrs. J. Oscar Hall left Ohio on Sunday for Ashville, N. C., to remain indefinitely for her health. Mrs. Hall is suffering from bronchial troubles and went South on the advice of the family physician. Mr. Hall has stored his household goods in town but is remaining in the same precinct occupied at the time his dwelling was destroyed by fire to retain his vote. He expects to become a resident of Shelbyville after the election.

It was reported that someone was held up in the white bridge south of this city late last night. Many seemed to be satisfied that a robbery occurred, but none there were who knew the victim's name.

SPEAK OF OUR CONFIDENCE

And the Monster Watson Jollification
Meeting to Be Held.

Richmond Palladium: So confident are the citizens of Rushville that Watson will be elected that the electric lights and decorations placed across the streets for a rally the other night are to be left in place. A monster celebration and jollification is planned for the night of November 3, as a testimonial to the Republican candidate, whose home is at Rushville.

BEVERIDGE COMES ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Be Rushed to Republican Hall in Auto for Brief Speech.

SPEAKS IN THE FORENOON.

Senator Beveridge will arrive on his special train at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow morning and taken immediately in an auto to the Republican hall for a thirty minute address. At the conclusion of his speech he will be taken to the J. M. & I. depot and from here will go to Shelbyville.

AIR OF MYSTERY IN THIS JOURNEY

Coturie Walk in the Land of the Supernatural and Talk of Scarey Things.

THE MONTH OF THE SPOOKS

Rather mysterious were the invitations which summoned the Coturie to Mrs. Bigham's to meet "elves and haunts and spooks and things" in East Sixth street yesterday afternoon. Since this is the season "when owl-hoot and goblins scot and witches come and go," none was surprised when Mrs. Bigham announced a journey through the realms of English and American literature in search of the supernatural. Beowulf and Chaucer's Tales; Banquo's ghost and the three witches from Hamlet; Titania and her train of fairies from Midsummer Night's Dream; Milton's Comus; and even Ichabod Crane's headless horseless horseman were visited.

The fact was noted that less and less of the supernatural is to be found as modern literature is approached.

After the reading of the paper, Mrs. A. L. Gary was initiated into the mysteries (?) of the Coturie with all the most approved methods.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bagley occurred last Saturday evening at their home in Posey township. The house was beautifully decorated, giving it the effect of autumn. Mr. and Mrs. Bagley received many valuable presents, consisting mostly of silver and china-ware. There were several people from this city present.

RECOVERS ONLY TO DIE SUDDENLY

Mrs. Berner Stewart Died Yesterday in Indianapolis Hospital of Dilation of the Heart.

WAS APPARENTLY RECOVERING

Deceased Was to Have Returned Home This Week—Died in a Bath Tub.

An unexpected sorrow came into the Stewart family of seven members and the tie was broken for the first time yesterday morning when Mrs. Berner Stewart passed away at 11 o'clock in the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis of dilation of the heart.

An operation for gall stones was performed upon Mrs. Stewart about three weeks ago and it was thought that she was fast improving. So well was she doing that it was the intention of the husband, Oscar Stewart, to bring her home the latter part of this week.

The nurse had taken Mrs. Stewart up for a bath yesterday morning and when the water touched her body she quietly passed away, the muscles of the heart refusing to act.

The deceased was 52 years old and is survived by her husband, Oscar Stewart, three married children, Mrs. Tom Miller, Mrs. Jesse Wilson and Orval Stewart, all of this county; and Dayton and Grace Stewart, who live at home.

The funeral services will be held at the home, two miles northeast of Occident, at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning with Rev. R. W. Abberley of the Main Street Christian church officiating. Burial will occur in Coventry cemetery between Glenwood and Orange.

The death comes as a severe shock to the many relatives and friends, for it was thought that she was recovering nicely and would be brought home this week, improved in health and spirits.

DO THEY THINK JIM WILL BE ELECTED?

Well, Rush County People Have Been Backing Their Judgment With Coin of the Realm.

ARE THE BREWERS BETTING?

It is understood that local people, who feel sure of Watson's election, have wagered about $15,000 on the result. Nearly all the bets were posted in Indianapolis as very few Democrats here think Marshall will win. One thousand dollars was brought from Indianapolis late last night to be posted on Marshall and three local Republicans went after it early this morning like so many bass after a minnow.

It is said that Rushville parties have been posting from $500 to $1000 on Watson every day in Indianapolis. One man is known to have bet over $3500. It is thought by some that the money was sent here for a scare, but we "eat up" and welcome such scares in Rush county.

THE PEOPLE'S CONTRIBUTIONS

Erected Monument to Harrison Unveiled Today.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

The Hand That Unveiled to the World the Monumental Statue of General Harrison Erected in University Park, Indianapolis, Was That of the Little Daughter of the Former President, the Ceremony Being Accompanied by Tributes of Eloquent Speakers and a Parade of Military and Civic Bodies.

Indianapolis, Oct. 27.—Among the floral tributes laid at the foot of the statue of Benjamin Harrison, former president of the United States, erected by the loving contributions of the people and unveiled this afternoon in University park, was a laurel wreath sent by President Roosevelt.

The imposing and impressive memorial monument was unveiled by little Miss Elizabeth Harrison, young daughter of the late ex-president. Escorted by four members of her father's er's regiment, the Seventieth Indiana, she walked from the reviewing stand to the monument. There she pulled the cord that unveiled the figure of her father. The veils were two flags, one representing the army and the other the navy. The cord pulled by the little girl drew the flags from around the figure of the statue and suspended them, one on each side. A company from the Tenth regiment saluted with their guns. Then the veterans acting as a guard of honor to the daughter drew the flags to the tall flagpoles at each side. The pole at the right bore the escutcheon of the army and that at the left the insignia of the navy.

A Grateful Generation.

The speakers who addressed the great throng which packed the "court of honor" arranged in New York street between the postoffice and University park and filled the pretty park were John L. Griffiths, American consul to Liverpool, General John W. Noble and Vice President Fairbanks. John B. Elam, former law partner of General Harrison, presided, and a memorial poem was read by James Whitcomb Riley, the ceremonies being preceded by a parade of military and civic bodies numbering nearly 2,500 persons.

In addressing the great audience assembled to do honor to General Harrison's memory, Mr. Griffiths said: "If we had not built this monument, we should have gone down to posterity as a generation that was unaware of the treasure in our midst." Of General Harrison's services to his country in the White House, Mr. Griffiths said: "When the historian far removed from the events he describes, so he can judge them impartially, places his estimate upon General Harrison's administration, he will say, I believe, that in no administration were there higher ideals of government and a more sincere desire to embody those ideals in action, and that the impulse came from the man who as chief executive of the nation had the moral courage to refuse to make any concession or compromise or surrender when a principle was involved, always insisting that it is righteousness alone that exalteth a people. It was an administration that was clean, efficient, conservative, dignified, patriotic and aggressive; an administration in which the rights of our citizens were zealously guarded at home and abroad and in which the flag was a holy symbol of power, beneficently and wisely used for noble purposes."

His Life an Open Book.

Vice President Fairbanks, speaking of the lofty personality of General Harrison, said:

"His life was as an open book. He rose through the force of his genius to the highest official eminence an American can achieve. Though of distinguished lineage, he was essentially a product of his own effort. He leaned not upon others, but relied upon himself. In every relation of life from the beginning he set his eyes upon high ideals, and whether at the bar, upon the arduous field, in the senate of the United States or in the office of chief executive of the nation, he held fast to them.

"He was a man of pure purpose, scorning the ignoble and seeking always to lift his fellows to an exalted plane of life and effort. He carried conscience into every act and left behind him a record without a blemish."

The inscriptions placed upon the monument and the exedra are as follows:

(South front.)

SIR WILFRED LAURIER HAS A SAFE MAJORITY

Returned as Canadian Premier For Another Five Years.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 27.—Elections for the federal house of commons were held Monday throughout Canada. Of the 221 constituencies in the Dominion, only two, Rouville, Que., and South York, Ont., returned members by acclamation. In all the others, with the exception of five which hold their elections later, there were contests. The returns show that Sir Wilfred Laurier, the present premier, who in the last house had a majority of sixty-six, will be returned to power for another five years with a safe, although slightly reduced, majority.

French Canadian Quebec remained loyal to the premier, electing a membership almost solidly Liberal. Ontario, where the Conservatives expected to make their heaviest gains, and where the campaign against alleged government extravagance and favoritism waged the hottest, did not come up to the opposition's expectations. The returns indicate an almost evenly divided membership compared with 39 Liberals and 47 Conservatives in the last house. The opposition gained slightly in Manitoba, but the Liberals carried the remainder of the west with few exceptions. Nova Scotia which at the last general elections in 1904 returned a solid Liberal phalanx, gives the Conservative party several seats.

R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservatives, was elected by a substantial majority in Halifax, which rejected him four years ago. All the ministers have been re-elected with the exception of William Templeman of Victoria, B. C., who lost by five votes.

A NUMBER OF SENSATIONS

Further Details of Wrecking Big Bank.

ACCUSATION AGAINST MORSE

Former Vice President of Wrecked National Bank of North America Testifies That Former President of Ill-Fated Institution, on Day That Concern Collapsed, Had Said to Him: "I Have Just Told Morse That He Has 'Busted the Bank.'"—Gates, Schwab and Other Directors Disclaim Knowledge of Affairs.

New York, Oct. 27.—After the admission of testimony by John W. Gates, former Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, Charles M. Schwab, John H. Flagler and William F. Havemeyer, to the effect that as directors of the National Bank of North America they had never authorized the honoring of overdrafts by Charles W. Morse, the vice president of the bank, and had never known of the existence of such a practice, the prosecution rested its case in the United States court here against the former banker and promoter and his fellow-defendant, A. H. Curtis, who are being tried for alleged violation of the national banking laws.

The day's session furnished a number of sensations, not the least of which being the declaration by W. W. Lee, a former vice president of the bank, that on the day of the institution's collapse, Curtis, the president, had said to him: "I have just told Morse that he has 'busted the bank.'" Mr. Lee was questioned at length concerning the happenings behind closed doors of the bank during the evening hours of Oct. 16, 1907, the day of the collapse. After the accounts of the day's transactions had been closed, it was discovered, Mr. Lee testified, that Mr. Morse had overdrawn his account $211,000. In order to make good this deficiency Morse had turned into the bank a quantity of securities, for the most part stocks and bonds not listed on the stock exchange, and of doubtful value, as collateral for a loan of $211,000. The loan the directors repudiated on the following day, the collateral put up by Morse being found unsatisfactory.

Testimony intended to show that dominating influence exercised over the National Bank of North America by Morse was given by W. A. Nash, president of the Corn Exchange bank and a member of the clearing house committee. Mr. Nash, it appeared, informed Curtis of the intention of the clearing house committee to examine the bank of North America.

"I took Mr. Curtis aside," testified Mr. Nash, "and asked him if the bank was all right. He waved his hand toward Morse and replied, 'If he is all right, the bank is all right.'"

ARCHBOLD'S STATEMENT

Standard Oil Magnate Makes Reply to Hearst.

New York, Oct. 27.—John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil company has made the following statement regarding the letters read by William R. Hearst at the Carnegie hall meeting Saturday night: "I am very sure that until Hearst read the letters neither Judge Morrison nor Judge Henderson had any knowledge of my having written Governor Stone in their behalf. Judge Henderson was not appointed by Governor Stone to the supreme court, but was three years later appointed by Governor Pennypacker to a superior court judgeship. If, however, any feeble word of mine could have influenced in the slightest degree the selection of these gentlemen for their respective positions I would be very proud of it. Their state has had no better servants than they, and I certainly have never asked of them any favor of any kind, either for myself or for the company with which I am connected.

"My letters to General Elkin referring to accompanying drafts related entirely to contributions to the Republican state committee, then engaged in the campaign preliminary to the re-nomination of Mr. McKinley, a subject regarding which I think Hearst would be a little sensitive, for was it not the election and the tragic death of Mr. McKinley that came near costing Hearst his precious neck?

"The statement regarding Judge Haight is in connection with an old libel that has been explained and exploded so many times that it would be a simple weariness to the public to go over it again.

"The intimation by Hearst that he has had any communication from me or any of my associates in connection with the stolen letters is a lie.

"The only favor which I would ask or hope ever to ask of Hearst, is that he return to me the letters handed him by his larcenous 'gentleman friend' which were written from Japan relating to the fatal illness of my daughter in that country."

The merchants of Panama have started a campaign to bring about an arrangement whereby the United States shall be compelled to pay duty on luxuries imported into the canal zone.

A TWO-FACED LEADER.

Bryan Ready to Denounce Democrats When Unable to Use Them.

What He Has Said of Cleveland, Parker, Sullivan, et al.

A noticeable feature of the record of the Democratic candidate for the presidency is the readiness with which he has berated leaders of the Democratic party when they opposed his ambitions and the equal readiness with which he has taken them to his bosom and confidence when receiving their support.

Just at this time much is being made by Mr. Bryan of the fact that some former members of the Gold-Standard Democratic party are supporting him. This is what he said of these Democrats in 1896:

"You may rest assured that the lines now drawn are drawn, not temporarily, but permanently. The man who leaves the Democratic party to-day, when the party is taking up its fight for the common people, must understand that if he comes back he must come back in sack cloth and ashes. Not only that, but he must bring forth works meet to repentance. The men who are in the employ of trusts and syndicates and combinations are not leaving the party for their country's good; they are leaving their party for their party's good."

Called Cleveland a Lobbyist.

Mr. Bryan has been particularly severe in his strictures upon former President Cleveland, although willing to be benefited at the Denver convention by the expressions of respect of Democracy for its former leader.

In the Commoner for the week of April 28, 1907, Mr. Bryan said:

"Former President Cleveland is just now engaged in a work which is not likely to add to either his laurels or his reputation as counsel for the life insurance companies. He has submitted a brief in relation to the power of states to take salaries paid to life insurance officers into consideration in laws regulating insurance. As this brief is intended for use in opposing state legislation, it puts the ex-president in the class with the lobbyist, a rather undignified position for one of his standing."

In a speech during the 1896 campaign Mr. Bryan had called Grover Cleveland "a political bunco steerer."

Bryan and Parker.

In an address at Cooper Union, New York, June 20, 1904, Mr. Bryan said:

"I object to playing with loaded dice. We don't know Parker's views but I am afraid some men do. My friends, don't trust him. I charge here that while Parker has concealed his views from the people he has made them known to the men behind him."

"What is Mr. Belmont's consideration in the Parker candidacy? He is too shrewd a financier to invest his money without being sure of the goods."

Hot Roast for Sullivan.

At a banquet tendered him at Chicago, Tuesday, Sept. 4, 1906, Mr. Bryan said of Roger Sullivan, with whom he is now cheek by jowl:

"I take this opportunity to state my position in regard to the National Committee from this state, Mr. Sullivan. As you all know I wrote him a letter asking him to resign from the National Committee in the interests of the Democratic party."

"What is the objection to Mr. Sullivan?"

"He is a high official in a franchise-seeking corporation, which is constantly seeking favors at the hands of the government."

"I hold that no man who is officially connected with a corporation that is seeking privileges ought to act as a member of a political organization, because he cannot represent his corporation and the people at the same time. He cannot serve the public while he is seeking to promote the financial interests of the corporation with which he is connected."

"The National Committee is usually consulted by the administration in the making of appointments, and a man like Mr. Sullivan would not be a fair judge as to the merits of different Democratic applicants."

"Mr. Sullivan is not my friend, although he pretended to be before this discussion arose. He would not have allowed me to be endorsed if he could have prevented it, but instead of opposing me like a man he attempted to link his name with mine and thus secure an endorsement for himself."

"I object to him as a political associate."

What Office Would Gompers Get?

Mr. Gompers, of course, would resent any imputation—which we have no thought of making—that his motives in supporting Mr. Bryan and trying to "deliver" the whole labor vote to him were not pure and high and wholly above suspicion. But when one of his colleagues, like Mr. Keefe, proposes to exercise the right and fulfill the duty of a true American citizen by voting as his mind and conscience dictate, his motives must be regarded with distrust. That is a fine exhibition, indeed, which we have no doubt intelligent and independent workmen will appreciate at its true value. The bubble of the attempt to discredit Mr. Keefe has hopelessly burst, and it has left behind it only a few specks of not overclean or fragrant suds.—New York Tribune.

Bryan as a Juggler.

How William J. Bryan juggles with the facts when they run counter to his purposes was shown by his speech at Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 6. He was speaking in support of a tariff for revenue only as the true remedy for business depression and sought to enforce his point by quoting statistics relating to commercial failures. His contention was that the conditions which led to the 15,242 failures in 1893, the largest number recorded for a single year, were in no way attributable to tariff reduction, "for," he protested, "it must be remembered that the McKinley tariff was still in force in 1893."

This trick evasion will deceive no body. The congress which enacted the Wilson-Gorman tariff—properly described by a Democratic president as "a creature of perjury and dishonor"—was elected in 1892. Its mere existence was a blight to American industry. The country knew precisely what to expect from it, and from the hour of its election the great business enterprises of the country began to wither and decay. There were only 10,344 commercial failures in the country in 1892, but with the certainty of wholesale reductions of the tariff by the congress elected that year the number of failures rose to 15,242 in 1893. There were 13,885 in 1894, 13,197 in 1895 and 15,083 in 1896, those being the years covered by the Wilson-Gorman act of perjury and dishonor.

Note the changes which followed the repeal of that ruinous law. The Dingley tariff took effect July 24, 1897. The failures that year numbered only 13,351, the number declining to 12,186 in 1898 and to 9,337 in 1899. The highest number of failures recorded for any year since the Wilson-Gorman act was repealed was 13,351, in 1903. The per cent of failures for the whole number of business concerns covered by statistics was 1.31, in 1896, under the Wilson-Gorman act, but it was only .82 of 1 per cent in 1907, under the Dingley act.

Mr. Bryan is urging the country to return to the old policy of revenue tariffs, which as a member of congress he helped to force upon the statute books in the form of the Wilson-Gorman monstrosity. He declares that if the Democrats win in the coming elections there will be a reduction of the tariff such as "will remove the tariff question from politics for a number of years." It will be also such as will put American manufacturers out of business for an equal period.

Every time Mr. Bryan talks on the tariff the people are reminded that he is a free trader who helped to enact a law which drove tens of thousands of American business concerns into bankruptcy and brought indescribable distress to hundreds of thousands of American workmen. His plea for power to repeat that monstrous wrong against the productive enterprises of the land is at once sublimely audacious and supremely insulting.

Bryan's Hunt For an Issue.

Mr. Bryan, hermetically corked up on the old issues of free silver, imperialism and government ownership of railways, is scrutinizing the record of Republican administration during the past twelve years with a microscope to find some peg on which to hang an attack. It would not be altogether surprising if a party which had done so much in this period to advance the glory and economic progress of the country had made a casual error here and there. These twelve years have witnessed the war with Spain, which gave freedom to Cuba and Porto Rico and brought the Philippines under American authority. They have witnessed the emergence of the country from depression and financial uncertainty upon the firm ground of the gold standard, enacted into law by a Republican congress. They have witnessed the creation of a navy which is carrying our flag with honor around the world. They have witnessed the extension of the strong hand over the railways and the great corporations in behalf of equality of treatment for all citizens. In sum and substance, these twelve years have witnessed for the average man a degree of prosperity and comfort never before equaled under any flag in any country since the world began.

To picking flaws in this record Mr. Bryan has taken upon himself to criticize the appropriations of the last congress and to make the declaration that "there was a deficit of some $60,000,000 in the last fiscal year." If Mr. Bryan knows what he is talking about this reference to a deficit is amazingly disingenuous. Secretary Cortelyou punctured this particular Bryan gas bag effectively soon after the fiscal year closed on June 30. He issued a statement showing that when the proceeds of bonds sold were added to the receipts from taxation and miscellaneous sources and allowance was made for the reduction of the public debt there was no deficit, but a surplus. The appearance of a deficit was only arrived at by counting all expenditures for the Panama canal and other public works and failing to count on the side of the receipts the proceeds of the bonds sold for the construction of the canal. It is the cus-

The Wage Earner's Choice.

The great and vital distinction—which every wage earner should take home to himself—between Republican and Democratic revision of the tariff is that Republicans propose to revise the tariff in such a way as not to reduce the wages of or diminish the opportunities for employment of American labor, and Bryan and his followers propose to cut the tariff down as near a free trade basis as they dare, with entire disregard of the interests of American labor.

Whether the statement that Bryan as a Democratic member of the ways and means committee of the Democratic congress which passed the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill spoke of American workmen seeking protection as "public beggars" is correct or not is of very slight consequence, because his lifelong attitude toward tariff revision speaks for itself and shows that he regards beneficiaries of a protective tariff, both employers and employed, as not entitled to the benefits they receive—that is, as just what the opprobrious epithet designates them.

The Republican party takes the view and upholds it in speech and in practice that American workers have a right to protection and that in revising the tariff that right must be respected.

Such is the difference—as wide and deep and impassable as difference on a public question can be—between the revision the Republican party proposes and intends to effect and the so called revision that Bryan represents in his public record, his platform and his speeches.

It is for the American wage earner to decide which kind of revision he prefers—the Republican revision, which will keep the making of American goods for America, or the Bryan revision, which will give the work of making American goods to factories in England and Germany.

If you want to keep the work here and get paid for doing it, vote for Taft!

Possibly Mr. Bryan may go a step further and insist that the government shall guarantee deposits in sand banks.

It would be unkind to ask Bryan what he thinks about the suppression of the colored vote in the south.

Mr. Bryan apparently would rather be wrong than be president.

"The Republican party is driving the farmers to ruin," says Mr. Bryan. No one is driving the farmer this year except his chauffeur.

"Boss" Croker is warmly in favor of Bryan's election. Mr. Bryan once declared, "Great is Tammany, and Croker is its prophet!"

QUESTIONS BRYAN PREFERS TO IGNORE

Seven Pointed Queries Propounded the Democratic Candidate.

Failed to Answer Any of the Questions.

Prior to his recent speech at Omaha Mr. Bryan had propounded to him the following pertinent questions by the Omaha Bee. Mr. Bryan did not see fit to attempt to answer any of them.

1. You, Mr. Bryan, are making much of Democratic friendship for labor. Why is it that practically no legislation to protect labor has been enacted in the Southern States in which Democrats have absolute control? Why are there no child labor laws in the South? Why are there no laws to protect women wage earners in the South? You and your fusion friends had absolute executive and legislative control of Nebraska for several years. Why was no legislation to protect labor passed then? Why did the wage workers of Nebraska have to wait for succeeding Republican legislatures to remove the $5,000 death damage limit, to get an equitable employer's liability act and to get a child labor law?

2. You, Mr. Bryan, are trying to make your paramount issue, "Shall the people rule?" The most advanced step toward popular rule has been through the direct primary. Why is it, Mr. Bryan, that your fusion friends when in complete control did not give Nebraska a direct primary law? Why is it that the Republicans of Nebraska had to secure the direct primary law over the opposition of the Democrats? Why is it that the progressive Republican States have enacted direct primary laws to bring the filling of offices closer to the people, while in the Democratic States of the South direct primary laws have been enacted avowedly to disfranchise the people?

3. You, Mr. Bryan, are bidding for office on your anti-trust remedies. Why is it that all the effective legislation against illegal combinations has been enacted by Republican congresses and for the most part by Republican State legislatures, while the Democratic States have no effective anti-trust legislation?

4. You, Mr. Bryan, are bidding for labor votes by promising to abolish the writ of injunction in labor disputes. Do you not know that injunction abuses have been chargeable as much to State courts as to federal courts? Can you name a single Democratic State which has passed a law to prevent the abuse of injunction by State courts? Why was no such law passed in Nebraska when your fusion friends were in complete control?

5. You, Mr. Bryan, are bidding for votes on your scheme of bank deposit guaranty. Oklahoma is the only State that has put such a law on its statute books. Why have none of the other Democratic States enacted deposit guaranty laws? You, especially, introduced such a bill into Congress in the early 90's. Why did you not get your fusion friends to enact the bill as a State law when they were in complete control of Nebraska? A deposit guaranty bill, which you endorsed, was offered in Congress last winter as a substitute for the Vreeland bill, but only a handful of the Democratic Congressmen voted for it, the remaining others voting against it or refusing to vote. The only Democratic Congressman from Nebraska was one of those who refused to vote. If your endorsement of that bill was unable to make these Democratic Congressmen vote for it last winter, how will you be able to make them vote for it next winter?

6. You, Mr. Bryan, are trying to make much of the popular election of United States Senators. We have the statement of Mr. Tibbles, made three years ago, that a large sum of money, said to be $15,000 or $20,000, was contributed by "Ryan, Belmont & Co." in 1904, through your brother-in-law toward your campaign for United States Senator in Nebraska. Is Mr. Tibbles mistaken in his assertions? If so, why did you not correct them long ago? If not, why did you not put your name on the ballot as a candidate for Senator and ask a vote of popular preference under the Nebraska law which gives you that right? Why did the Democrats refuse to submit candidates for United States Senator to popular vote in Nebraska in 1898, in 1900 and 1904?

7. You, Mr. Bryan, are making much of publicity of campaign contributions. Nebraska has a campaign publicity law, but it was enacted, as you know, by a Republican Legislature after your fusion State administration had failed to pass such a law. Why is it, Mr. Bryan, that your brother-in-law and Democratic campaign managers have persistently and willfully violated the Nebraska campaign publicity law? Why, if you are so devoted to campaign fund publicity, were you so insistent that the $50,000 contribution to your campaign made by the Bennett will should be kept secret?

The Hon. John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for vice-president, who visited this city yesterday, was "starred" in large headlines in "The Evening Post" as "an optimist." Anybody who can travel these days on a railroad pass has good reason for being "an optimist."—New York Tribune.

BASE ORDERS ON
BRYAN'S DEFEAT

Local Furniture Factory Receives
Orders For Goods Providing Taft is Elected.

IT IS A MATTER OF BUSINESS

Regardless of the Political Phase—
Free Trade and Lost Confidence
Will Close Many Factories.

A local furniture factory has received several large orders for goods to be delivered in event Taft is elected. It is argued that there is no politics in the orders given, for it is merely a business proposition. Retailers living in communities where factories would naturally close down if free trade was inaugurated and thousands of men thrown out of employment, the manufacturer not being able to compete with foreign, cheap labor, would not have any use for a stock of furniture or any other merchandise.

The Richmond Palladium, a conservative newspaper publishes the following story of a similar condition there:

"Business men of this city are making no bones of the fact that they are buying their wares at present with a proviso clause in the bill of sale. The little 'if' occupies the most prominent place in these transactions. Local merchants are placing orders for certain amounts of goods in event of the election of Taft, but the proviso makes cancellation of the order in its entirety or partially if Bryan is elected. One of the largest mercantile houses in Richmond has placed an order with an eastern supply house. But this order, which is for $800 worth of stock, provides that if Bryan is elected the amount shall be only $400.

"You may talk to me about coercion or whatever else you want to call it," said the merchant, "I'm not buying this way with that point in mind, however. It is business with me and I believe I know my own business better than anyone else. I feel absolutely certain that Taft's election means the restoration of confidence in this country and the demand of the public for my line of goods will increase. I believe that on the other hand if Bryan is elected, this demand will fall off. I don't run my business as a political pendulum, but I do run it for what I can get out of it, and that's the way I feel upon this election proposition."

"The largest manufacturing concerns of this city are confronting a perplexing situation. There is hardly a one of them that has not received orders conditional upon the election."

Amusements

Victor's Royal Venetian band will give an entertainment under the auspices of the Senior class of the Rushville high school, at the Grand opera house Thursday afternoon October 29 at 3 o'clock. There are fifty pieces in the band and they also carry with them a high-class soprano, Miss Grace Keye Miller who is a soloist of great ability. This organization comes highly recommended as they filled a thirty weeks engagement in Madison Square Garden, New York City last summer.

The Senior class of the Rushville high school will depart from the usual method of raising money by giving a class play and will give a series of high-class lectures and entertainments of which this is the first.

The film, "Crazed by Jealousy" at the Grand last night was something out of the ordinary. It tells a story of real life which might happen to any family. The song by Miss Iva Brown is new and catchy. The same program will be used tonight.

The Vaudeville for a deviation will offer a complete change of program each night this week, of extra good pictures especially selected from the best makes. A real treat is in store for the patrons of this theater each night. Miss Liddle renders a new song each night.

CHENEY BEATEN
FOR PROSECUTOR

Record of His Saloon Career Causes
Democrats to Turn Against Him.

INDICTED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Says he Was Forced Into Business—
Was he Forced to Violate the Law?—Brewery Candidate.

Immediately after the nomination of John C. Cheney for prosecuting attorney, by the Democrats, there was considerable discussion of his record, says the Shelbyville Republican. If the truth were told the record of Mr. Cheney could hardly be accepted as credentials in a law and order society. In looking over the past of Mr. Cheney we find that at one time he desired to be a dispenser of liquor—at least he did dispense it, first as a bartender and later as the proprietor of a saloon. We say proprietor for the saloon was conducted in his name, though it is possible that it was one of the notorious brewery's owned saloons.

At this time Mr. Cheney has documents to prove that he was forced into the saloon business. What will the average citizen think? Were Crawford Fairbanks and Albert Lieber forced into the saloon business? Was any man ever "forced" into any business that most decent men consider of the lowest and most brutal nature? We are not informed how long Mr. Cheney was "forced" to stay in the liquor business, but the fact is he admitted that he did stay in the liquor business many months in Greenfield, Indiana. It is reasonable to suppose from the conceding facts that Mr. Cheney was "forced" to conduct the kind of a saloon that he did conduct—since the manner in which it was conducted needs explanation to the moral citizens of Shelby county.

The manner in which Candidate Cheney's saloon was conducted, is a matter of court record. An examination of the Indictment Record No. 8, on pages 101 to 120, and 149, 150, 152 and 153, of the Hancock circuit court, Hancock county, Indiana, reveals the fact that one John C. Cheney was indicted by a grand jury of that county on the charge that he made illegal sales of liquor. Since Candidate Cheney pleads that he was "forced" into the saloon business, it is highly probable that he will also plead that he was "forced" to make illegal sales of liquors.

We credit Candidate Cheney with all sincerity, and do not doubt but that he believed, and still believes that he was "forced" into the saloon business. We, however, and a majority of the voters of Shelby and Rush counties agree with us, consider the influence that "forced" J. C. Cheney into the saloon business, extremely sinister. It is not possible that the voters will desire a man in the office of Prosecuting Attorney that can be "forced" from what he considers the right into an evil and criminal course. Since Candidate Cheney was "forced" into the saloon business by his own statement, the question immediately presents itself will he not be "forced" to violate the oath of his office and his written pledge as to the violators of the liquor laws, by the friendships which he formed while he was in the saloon business, by business interests involved, or to protect the investment in saloon property that either he or some member of his family hold.

The voters of Shelby and Rush counties will elect a man as Prosecuting Attorney whom no sinister influence can force from the path of duty and the right. A man will occupy the office who will work for the public good and force the violators of the liquor laws and all other criminals to pay the penalty for their misdeeds without fear or favor or bias by reason of past or present environment or association or by brewery rule.

POSTOFFICE WILL GET NEW STAMPS

Radical Change in Design Will Come
Next Week to the Rushville
Office.

PICTURE GALLERY IS CUT OUT

Next week the Rushville postoffice will receive a supply of the issue of new stamps. A radical change will be made with respect to designs, and local stamp collectors are awaiting the issue with much eagerness.

Heretofore the stamps have carried portraits of the great men of the country and in special commemorative issues engravings of historical subjects in keeping with the occasion.

It has been decided in the new issue to have all stamps bear the portrait of George Washington, with the exception of the one-cent stamps, which will have a portrait of Franklin. The portrait will be a profile from a bust by Houdon. The only decoration will be a laurel "United States Postage" in a straight wreath in an eclipse, the words line at the top and the denomination beneath. The colors will be red and blue.

REPORT THAT QUAIL
CROP IS BUMPER

Local Nimrods are Limbering up
Their Fowling Pieces in Anticipation.

GUN CLUB IS A BIG FACTOR

Reports from the country districts indicate that quail are more plentiful this year than for several years past and accordingly the local nimrods are limbering up their fowling pieces in anticipation of a good season of hunting. The organization of the Gun Club will have some influence on the slaughter of birds this season. The quail season will open November 10. County Clerk Posey is also preparing for the hunting season and has a large supply of hunters' licenses on hand.

The squirrel hunters have retired from the field, now that the season has closed. The only wild game, which can be lawfully hunted in the State now, is wild duck and other water fowls.

WATSON WILL CLOSE HERE

Beginning next Thursday morning, James E. Watson will make a tour of the southern counties of the State. He will close the tour with an address at Evansville. The last speech of the campaign will be delivered to his own people here.

Throwing His Fortune Away.

Throwing away what one has is not always the only way to lose a fortune. Being unable to see an opportunity, or to grasp it when seeing it, is more often the cause of losing out in the world. A person who feels too sluggish to make the best of time can quickly improve by using Sxine Pills, the great tonic, that is guaranteed for all forms of weakness in men and women. Price $1 a box; six boxes $5, with full guarantee. Address or call Hargrove & Mullin, Rushville. This is the store that sells all the principal remedies and does not substitute.

THE BIG GINGER JAR

Hon. John L. Griffiths, Who Speaks
Here Saturday, Made Decided Hit at Richmond.

IS BIG DRAWING CARD THERE

Hon. John L. Griffiths, who speaks here Saturday afternoon, is rated one of the best orators in America. In speaking of his first campaign speech this year, the Richmond Item says in the opening paragraph of a review: "As has been his wont, John L. Griffiths brought an immense quantity of enthusiasm to the Coliseum Saturday evening, and in the presence of the largest indoor crowd of the campaign here, uncorked the 'ginger jar,' causing Republican stock to rise several notches. Griffiths told more than 3000 people what he thought on State and national issues and his words were received with a volume of applause to which the big hall had not been accustomed. There was in it all a new attestation of the favoritism Richmond has for the present United States consul to Liverpool, and his wonderful drawing and entertaining qualities in Wayne county."

Bees Laxative Cough Syrup always brings quick relief to coughs, colds, hoarseness, whooping-cough and all bronchial and throat trouble. Mothers especially recommend it for children. Pleasant to take, gently laxative. Sold by Lytle's drug store.

Yellow Clothes Are Unsightly.

Keep them white with Red Cross Ball Blue. All grocers sell large 2oz. package, 5 cents.

Democrats would have more hope of securing the support of the first voters if the first voters did not read American history.

Mr. Bryan is posing as the Advance Agent of Prosperity. It is not customary, however, to have an advance agent follow the show.

They are betting ten dollars to four, or $100 to $40, that W. O. Barnard will be the next Congressman from this district. But even at that it's like taking candy from a baby.—Connorsville News.

FIRST WRITINGS APPEARED HERE

Benjamin Parker, Grand Old Man of New Castle, Contributed to Rushville Republican.

BRILLIANT LITERARY GENIUS

Benjamin Parker, the "grand old man" of New Castle, was here yesterday, the guest of his son, Jet Parker. Mr. Parker is a brilliant literary man and one of the foremost writers of verse in Indiana. It is a joy to meet one of the Benjamin Parker type; one of those saintly, optimistic souls who carries sunshine everywhere he goes.

Mr. Parker said that some of his first writings appeared in the Rushville Republican when the paper was conducted by Gen. P. A. Hackleman. Mr. Parker is a staunch Watson man and says he will make a great and good governor.

Heart Disease and Sudden Death.

A man rushing to catch a train the other day fell dead. In this instance it is fair to assume that the strain on a weak heart might fairly be held responsible. In view of the fierce competition in life and the undue strain to which the masses of men are subjected it is of the highest importance that people known to be affected with heart disease should exercise the greatest care as to overtaxing their physical strength in view of the danger of sudden death, instances of which are so common today. Inasmuch as few people are aware of having weak hearts, a safe rule for all men over forty is to avoid the perils of haste and undue strain, as in lifting, rushing, etc. Another important factor, many people over forty indulging in excessive eating are in danger of arterio-sclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, which results in sudden death from apoplexy, kidney or heart disease. To sum the matter up, people over forty must limit their table indulgence and avoid sudden and undue haste or strain if desirous of attaining a ripe old age.—New York Herald.

Made the Most of His Hats.

When Lord Milner held his first reception at Pretoria the officers and legislators were given to understand that frock coats and tall hats were expected of them. There was only one shop in the place in which silk hats were sold, and this had but four of them. The Transvaal legislators rushed off in a body to buy, these four, but the hatter, not being mad, saw his opportunity in their extremity. He knew there was no time to get hats from anywhere else, so he resolved not to sell. He offered to let them out on hire at the rate of 10 shillings for ten minutes. His shop was close at hand. Four gentlemen could present themselves before his credenza. After ten minutes they must silently steal away and hand over their hired finery to another panting quartet. It was done, and the hatter still repeats dreamily as he recalls the moment of his life, "It would not have been fair to have sold them, not fair to my customers and not fair to myself."—Pall Mall Gazette.

If All Candidates Were White.

The word "candidate" is from the Latin "candidatus." Literally it means white robed, and it was thus called because in Rome those who sought office wore a glittering white toga. Fancy, if you can, all our modern Americans dressed in accordance with their political ambitions. In some sections there would be no such thing as a dark suit of clothes. Washington would simply be one shining center of universal whiteness.—Saturday Evening Post.

Costs Sometimes.

"Politeness costs nothing," said the man of ready made wisdom. "I guess," answered Mr. Cumrox, "that you never had any experiences with these cafe waiters who regulate their politeness by the size of the tip."—Washington Star.

Lady Betty Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"I should have thought it would be a strain having the dresses to wear," said I. "Fancy getting passionately attached to one frock, but never being able to wear it more than once or twice on account of your duty to the new ones always coming toward you in a long, relentless procession, down the years. I should hate it."

"I wouldn't," said Mrs. Taylour. "I can't have too many new things, and I always change each scrap of furniture and decoration in my own rooms every year so that Mr. Taylour won't get tired of them. He's such a nervous man. But you'll meet Cora Pitchley at Newport. Her house is there. She's a type of an American woman, just as bright as she can be. Her second husband was a wholesale dry goods man years ago, but most people have forgotten that, now he's worth his millions, and he's got the most gorgeous place, quite like one of your old castles. The worst of it is his mother lives with them, and when she was showing the bride—Cora—over the house (which was decorated pretty weirdly for the first wife), the old lady kept explaining: 'This is the Louise Seize room; this is the Queen Anne room.' Cora just looked at the things and said, 'What makes you think so? Smart, wasn't it? But Cora's changed everything inside the house now. She loves change. She's even changed her birthday, so as to have it in leap year; and as for her mind, she changes it entirely at least six times a day; says that's why women have nicer minds than men; they change them oftener. But I've gossiped enough about a person you don't know, Lady Betty. Let's talk about England. I run over to Paris for a month or two most years, but I've only been twice to England. I did all the sights, though; didn't miss anything. I gave four days to London alone. Candidly, I don't think your women dress nearly as well as we do, or hold themselves as well, but perhaps you're more feminine looking, taking you all in all. I don't mean anything personal of course. But I do think your men are lovely. I met a perfectly charming member of parliament, and he invited me to tea on the terrace. Such strawberries and cream! But I'm afraid I hurt his feelings. I said I couldn't help thinking 'house of commons' a most insulting name, and if we called our senate anything like that we couldn't get an American man who respected himself to go into it. But English people are so queer. They don't seem to mind admitting that there is a class above theirs."

"Betty doesn't need to know anything about that," said Mrs. Ess Kay. "She is on the highest pinnacle."

"Oh, dear, no," said I. "There are the royalties."

"Don't you think you are just as good?" asked Mrs. Taylour.

"I never thought about it in that way," I answered stupidly. For, of course, I hadn't.

"Surely you don't bob to them?"

"Indeed we do," I protested.

"Well, then; I wouldn't," said Mrs. Taylour firmly. "I'd have my head cut off first, especially before I'd curtsey to a man."

Quite a color flew into her face as she asserted her independence, and Mrs. Ess Kay must have seen that the invalid was getting excited, for she rose quickly to go.

"Come, Betty," said she, and I came. The lift plunged us down through the inner workings of the skeleton. I had the sensation that it was dropping away from under my feet and that as I dangled above it, like a wabbling little balloon, my head had been left behind somewhere near the top. But I didn't leave my heart behind in Mrs. Taylour's flat.

Chapter 8

I WAS anxious to travel in an American train, so Mrs. Ess Kay said we might go by rail to Newport instead of by boat as she had intended.

I know it was very wrong in principle, but when we got to the Grand Central station (or depot, as perhaps I ought to call it) I did wish that slavery existed again so that I could have bought two or three of those delightful cafe au lait colored porters in gray livery and red caps. There were several I would have given anything to have to take home with me and make pets of, but I suppose even if they had been for sale they would have come too expensive, and I should have had to give them up, for their eyes alone, to say nothing of their pleasant white grins, would have been worth pounds and pounds.

As for their voices, they were the sweetest I'd heard in America—soft and a little throaty, with a peculiar quality, quite different from the voice of a person who hasn't been dipped in cafe au lait. With their vivid red caps, their brilliant eyes and their lightning flash smiles they looked to me more like great, wonderful tropical birds than human beings, and they seemed so honey luscious in their good nature that I'm sure all the things that serious and learned people say in England about the "dangers of the increasing colored population in America" must be nonsense. Serious and learned people do make such mistakes through never seeing the fun in anything, and every few years they find out that they have been quite wrong in what they have taught with so much trouble about comets and microbes and men and other progressive things.

We had a number of these tropical birds that have been trained to serve the railway, to help us with our bags and things getting into the train, although there were Louise and a couple of Mrs. Ess Kay's footmen as well. I looked at their brown hands, and they were quite pink inside, as pink as mine. I don't know why this gave me a shock, but it did. Perhaps one had the feeling that the nice creatures were only painted to play their parts or that their white souls—just like ours—were striking through their skins.

It was a beautiful train. Even the engine was different from our kind, much fiercer and reared its head higher, like a wild stag compared to a stout but reliable ox. Our carriage had no compartments in it, but was just one long, wide, moving corridor all plate glass windows and mirrors, and painted panels and velvet chairs dotted about rather like a box-drawing room on wheels.

There were a good many people in it when we got in, which annoyed Mrs. Ess Kay so much that she wished she had borrowed a private car from a friend who would have loved lending it. But I was glad she hadn't, for the people were part of the fun. Mrs. Ess Kay was sure they were no bodies because she didn't happen to know any of their faces, but perhaps they were thinking the same thing about her.

Anyway, they were mostly women, and all pretty and perfectly dressed, as even quite common people appear to be in America. I haven't caught sight of a dowdy woman since I came. None of their frocks hitch up in front and dip down behind, as you see people's doing if you are taken to a shop in Oxford street or even sometimes in Bond street, and their belts always point beautifully down at the waist, although it isn't the season in New York.

The train was a fast one and simply hurtled itself and us through space as if we had got onto the tail of a comet by mistake. But it hardly wobbled at all, so that we could have studied the scenery nicely if we had been able to see it behind the advertisements.

Passing the outskirts of New York, it seemed as if every villa, even the quite smart ones, did their own washing. The gardens—which Sally told me to call back yards—were just as full of clean clothes as the meadows were of advertisement boardings, and I rather wondered why some enterprising agents didn't go around and offer the people big prices for painting advertisements on their petticoats and shirts.

We tore through such charming places with fascinating houses built of wood, among parks of feathery green trees, that I was sure Newport could be no prettier, but Mrs. Ess Kay spoiled the most picturesque one for me by saying that it was practically settled by retired butchers and tailors. According to Mrs. Ess Kay and her brother all you have to do to be sure of being rich in America is to decide to be either a tailor or a butcher, so it seems quite simple, and I'm surprised that everybody doesn't do it. Only if you do, it appears there is no use in your going to Newport until you've lived it down, which, of course, must be a drawback.

Just as I had got rather giddy from looking out of the window, a boy (exactly like the boys in melodrama who begin by selling papers and end by saving the heroine from the villain) came into the car, piled up to his head with novels and magazines. He scattered a lot over us, like mamma, without asking us to pay, but just as I had got passionately interested in a short story he came back and began to gather everything up. Seeing that I clung to my lot, Potter bought them all for me before I could stop him.

There were two books and four magazines, with superlatively good looking, well-groomed young men and divinely lovely girls for the heroes and heroines. The story I was most interested in had a hero like Mr. Brett; but it was disappointing in the end, because he married a short plump girl with black eyes, and somehow it spoiled the realism, as I couldn't fancy he would really have cared so dreadfully for a girl like that. Anyway, it put me out of the mood for reading any more stories and I began glancing over the advertisements. At least, I glanced at first, but soon I was absorbed; for they were wonderful.

I had never dreamed that there were such kind, thoughtful men in business as the ones who advertised in those fat American magazines—and so clever, too; they seemed to have spent their whole past lives simply in studying things, so that eventually they could make you happy and save you trouble.

They lived only for that, those incredibly nice men. There were photographs of some of them with their advertisements, so that you could know what they were really like and have even more confidence in them than you would if you hadn't seen their style of features. There were two or three whose profiles I could never get to feel at home with, even if I had been born with one of them; but the majority were brave, energetic—oh, terribly energetic looking men, as indeed they would need to be if they were really to accomplish all the things they promised, not only for you but for the hundreds of thousands of other people who might be inclined to put them to the test.

There were things like this in the magazines—all the magazines:

"Listen to me, miss (or madam). I have something to say which will interest you. Do you want a perfect complexion? Don't move. Sit still in your chair. Cut out this coupon. Slip it into a stamped envelope and we will give you what you want by return of post."

"Why suffer? You have headache. We have the cure. We ask nothing of their pretty heads except their splendid hair, dressed everlastingly in the same way."

Now I saw Mrs. Ess Kay and Potter in their element. There was no suggestion that the people were no good enough for them here. Mrs. Ess Kay radiated smiles, bowing cordially right and left, sometimes even more cordially than her friends bowed in return. Potter was taking off his straw hat and waving it. They were delighted to see everybody, for everybody was somebody, and some, but not all, of the everybody's were delighted to see them. Sally alone remained unmoved, and I was glad to have her to keep me in countenance in this new act, where I knew none of the players or what part I should be called upon to take by and by.

Itching Skin Disease Readily Cured by a Simple Remedy.

The sufferer can be convinced by sending for a free trial package of Zemo to E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Zemo is a clean liquid for external use. It is of vegetable origin, pleasant and agreeable to use. The first application will stop the itching and burning, and if used according to the direction, will draw all the germs and their poisons to the surface and destroy them, leaving a nice, clear, healthy skin.

Zemo has made some remarkable cures of chronic cases of skin disease that had been pronounced incurable by the leading skin specialists of this country. Among these cures is Mr. Jacob Frank, proprietor Frank Mercantile Co., 821 N. 6th Street, St. Louis, Mo.; R. W. Emerson, President Anchor Steam Laundry, St. Louis, Mo.; W. P. Taylor, 108 Shinkle street, Findlay, Ohio; Mrs. Harvey Burks, Harrisburg, Ill. These persons were cured by Zemo after they had given up all hope of ever being cured. They will gladly answer all inquiries.

Zemo is for sale everywhere. Mr. F. E. Wolcott, the druggist, has secured the agency for Zemo in Rushville. He indorses and recommends Zemo and will be glad to show you photos and letters and other proof from prominent persons who have been cured by this remarkable remedy.

Night Riders' Lurid Threats.

Union City, Tenn., Oct. 27.—Dr. T. J. Hoppel of Trenton says that an unsigned letter was found on the stairs to his office, which contained many threats against Trenton. The letter was full of profanity and declared it was proposed to give Trenton hell, and to make way with the men and women, whites and negroes. The letter said the town would be visited the last of this month and that the people would soon be drinking water in hell. On the back was the picture of a horse and rider.

Father's Suicidal Impulse.

Scottsburg, Ind., Oct. 27.—James W. Alpha, living southwest of this city shot himself through the head, killing himself instantly. He had been sitting up with his son, who is very ill. The boy noticed that his father had a revolver, but thought nothing of it. Suddenly Alpha stepped outside the door and fired.

No public man has been more industrious in watching over and bettering labor conditions and urging legislation favorable to labor than has Mr. Taft, and the laboring men of America are wise to that fact.

RATIONAL CURE FOR ECZEMA

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure the Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself. You do not take blood medicine to cure a festering wound.

The best skin specialists today are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin.

The fact that eczema is a skin disease and not a blood disease is evident from statistics which show that nearly all eczema sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except as to their skin. If the eczema patients were really suffering from an inward malady, the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription.

This liquid attacks the disease germs, numbing them while building up the healthy tissues of the skin. We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable result so many times the we freely express our confidence.

Thos. W. Lytle, Rushville, Ind.

An English writer says that Bryanism is a religion. Hardly that, as no one was ever saved by it.

THOUSANDS IN BIG PARADE

Heaviest Downpour of the Season in That City Threatened for a Time to Interfere With the Big Feature of the Taft Demonstration, but Thousands Turned Out Despite This Adverse Circumstance, the Kings County Republican Cohorts Displaying All Their Traditional Enthusiasm for the Nominee.

New York, Oct. 27.—Devoting the day to a trip into Connecticut and the evening to speechmaking in Brooklyn, William H. Taft's first day of active campaigning on his present visit to this section was prosecuted by him with both vigor and earnestness. While the day, despite its call for a speech of some length in New Haven and a shorter one at Port Chester on the return trip to New York, was one of comparative ease for the Republican candidate, the calls that were made upon him in Brooklyn last night were such as to keep him actively occupied every moment of his time. When the candidate entered that portion of Greater New York late in the afternoon, he found himself fairly overwhelmed with engagements. Before the night was over he had accomplished five speeches, eaten dinner with a hundred Republicans as the guest of Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, reviewed a parade, which in spite of somewhat adverse weather conditions, was impressive in its size and inspiring in its enthusiasm, and then attended a reception at the Union League club. A deluge which broke loose just at about the time that Mr. Taft was entering New York's trans-pontine section, threatened for a time seriously to interfere with the evening's program there. It had been planned to make the parade one of the big features of the Taft demonstration, and the down-pour the heaviest of the fall season thus far, continued long enough to give the managers of the parade and the proposed participants in it several anxious quarter hours. The rainfall ceased, however, some time before the parade was scheduled to start, and the comfort of the marching thousands or of the reviewing party was not interfered with, and the function was carried out with all the elaborateness planned and that enthusiasm for which the Republican cohorts of Kings county are famed. Similarly successful and enthusiastic were the meetings of the night, particularly those in the Clermont rink and the Academy of Music, where Mr. Taft made his principal addresses.

The feature of the trip into Connecticut was the New Haven meeting, where with football enthusiasm, the candidate was pledged the support of a large portion of the student body of Yale, through the presentation of a handsomely bound memorial containing many pages of signatures. While the university personnel projected itself into the meeting, its political significance was emphasized by the presence of the state leaders of the party. Governor Woodruff sat on the platform beside George L. Lilley, candidate for governor. National Committeeman Brooker and State Chairman Kenealy were present, likewise Senators Brandegee and Bulkeley. A parade of the Yale Taft club and the New Haven Taft club, headed by fourteen veterans of the Wide-Awake club of 1860, paraded the streets in the rain, while a tremendous crowd gathered in the big armory, where the speeches were made.

The candidate delivered a pointed review of the campaign issues, in which he held uppermost the importance of the maintenance of the protective principle and the rehabilitation of business confidence. The speech was punctuated by the Yale yell, which ended with "Taft, Taft, Taft." Enthusiasm and friendliness were everywhere apparent.

When the candidate arrived at New Haven he inquired at once for his son Robert. After the meeting Robert, who is a junior at Yale, and who had been making frantic efforts to get to his father through the crowd, finally reached him at the station.

"My son," said Judge Taft, as he placed the boy's ruddy face between his hands and planted a kiss squarely on his lips. Robert was taken aboard and was an admiring listener to his father's speech.

The farmers demonstrate at every railway crossing that they are for the candidate of Republican prosperity.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

INDIANA POLITICS

Robert G. Tucker.

Republicans are feeling better over the situation than they have since the campaign opened. Chairman Goodrich, who has taken active charge of the organization, is convinced that both Taft and Watson are going to win in Indiana. Reports received at the Republican headquarters are more encouraging every hour. Chas. Remy, member of the executive committee, predicted today that Taft's plurality in Indiana will not be less than 35,000 and that Watson will be close up to him. "I don't believe there is any doubt that we will carry Indiana for Taft and Watson," said he. "I never saw such a change in public sentiment as there has been during the last two weeks. Our forces were a little slow in getting under way, but they are now moving in a way that will bring us another victory. I think it likely that our tickets will lose some votes in the labor centers, but look out for the country districts. It is simply a matter now of getting out the vote." Remy's opinion is said to be shared by others connected with the Republican organization.

The betting is lively on the race for governor. For the first time the members of the Republican organization have showed their hands by taking down bets that Marshall will win. It was said today that followers of the organization are advising their friends to pull down all the Marshall money they can get now on the theory that the odds will not continue. Marshall was offered at 10 to 8 for a while and later at 10 to 9. An incident occurred at Harry Walker's place showing the drift among the politicians from the country districts. Three farmers, after a long talk, made up a pool and bet the Watson end of a number of bets. As they started out of the place someone remarked loud enough to be heard that they were betting the Republican state committee's money. At that one of the farmers turned around and retorted that he and his companions followed the plow all summer and had shucked corn during the autumn, making their own money. "You fellows haven't heard from the country yet," he added with a show of anger. "Just wait until you learn something about the way the country is going to vote on this proposition, and maybe you'll change your minds."

The Indianapolis Methodist Ministers' association came near going on record for James E. Watson, Republican nominee for governor. At a large ly attended meeting nearly every minister spoke openly for the election of Watson and a legislature that will keep the county local option law on the books. Nearly all of the ministers asserted that they are Prohibitionists. The reports received here indicate that throughout the state ministers of nearly every denomination are now working openly among their congregations for Watson and the legislative candidates who favor the county local option law. It is believed that their activity is responsible in a large measure for the change of sentiment that is said by Republicans to be going on in the smaller cities and in the farming communities favorable to the Republican nominees.

* REMEMBER THESE THINGS *
*****
All Prohibitionists and temperance Democrats should remember these things:

That the Republican party has lost thousands of "liberal" votes in advocating a moral principle in which you and all good citizens are interested.

That if James E. Watson is elected, no matter what is the complexion of the legislature, the county local option law is safe for four years.

That if Tom Marshall is elected, the Democrats and their allies, the brewers and saloons, have a chance to repeal the option law at both the session of 1909 and 1911.

That if the Republicans are defeated in this election the temperance cause is set back twenty-five years. If temperance people will not support a party that is loyally and earnestly promoting their cause, how long can you expect such party to continue such heroic work. It is a clear case of gratitude and common sense. Can it be said of honest temperance people that they have less sense of gratitude and appreciation than the brewers and saloons? The Democratic party has offered these forces something to their choice and they rally as a man to the standard of Democracy. On the other hand the Republican party has adopted a temperance platform, advocated by the churches, the Anti-Saloon League and the best temperance sentiment of the state. The Republican party has made good already its promise of temperance reform by putting into law its platform. Not only that, but it has sidetracked national issues in order to fight out the battle of the people against the liquor interests of this state. How, then, can any honest temperance man hesitate in his choice of men and measures in this campaign. Prohibitionists have nothing to gain in voting for their candidate for governor, they have much to save in voting for Watson, for the election of Watson means county local option for four years at least.

TO TRADE OFF BRYAN
Brewers Know No Politics—Resort to Desperate Means to Elect Marshall Governor.

Indiana brewers and saloon men know no politics. They are for the candidates who when elected will favor them. The brewers and saloon men of Indiana are for Thomas R. Marshall for governor and a Democratic legislature. That they care nothing for the Democratic party except as it fosters their own selfish interests is evidenced by the fact that the word has been passed out to trade off Bryan for a vote for Marshall, and to trade the Democratic county ticket for a vote for Democratic legislators in many counties.

Liking for a change is too general among many Americans. They indulged it in 1892, and the result brought woe to workman and employer and the consumers that stand between. It is a virtue to recognize the good, appreciate it and continue it. Public as well as private servants get more efficient and serviceable as their years in service lengthen. If Bryan were elected, the general distrust and lack of public confidence that would surely follow, wrongly or rightly, would paralyze business and prostrate the opportunity to work, making necessary the cutting of their regular number of meals by most wage-earners. This is no pre-calamity cry. It is a sanely prophetic statement.

Gompers thinks it clever to call Mr. Taft the "injunction judge." Of course, he is not as well posted on history as he ought to be or he would know that Richard Olney, the minister of Mr. Cleveland and now a supporter of the man whom his chief despised, is the "father of injunctions." But what little old Sammy says doesn't matter much.

The "paramount issue" in this state is a moral one. It is whether the brewers, saloons and their kind shall rule or the decent people. The Democratic party is hitched up with the brewers and saloons. The Republican party is standing for the people. On this issue there should be no partisan politics. Our Prohibition and temperance Democratic friends should feel free to vote for Watson and the Republican legislative ticket even if they vote the balance of their own ticket.

Local Brevities

A lot of fellows are feeling the sand slipping from under them, politically speaking.

The taking of so many straw votes in this country is causing the price of horse bedding to go up.

Bryan will speak in Indiana next Saturday. If he keeps fooling around he will not only lose this State but will also lose his vote.

Greensburg News: Roy Privett has sold his Buick automobile, a model 10 roadster, to Noah Moore, living near Arlington, in Rush county.

Miss Beulah Meredith, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in Indianapolis several weeks ago is improving and will probably be brought home the latter part of this week.

Old soldier members of the Watson club are requested to meet at the sheriff's office at the court house next Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock for the parade which will occur one hour later.

Greenfield Reporter: Mr. and Mrs. James Tarplee of Richland, Rush county, were in Greenfield Saturday calling upon her son Kay Freeman. Mr. and Mrs. Tarplee were married at Kokomo Thursday. Mr. Tarplee is a successful farmer. He and his wife knew each other when they were young people. Mrs. Freeman formerly resided in this city but has been with her daughter Mrs. J. D. Packard at Chicago for some time.

There will be a large number of women out tomorrow morning to see and hear Senator Beveridge. He has always been popular with the fair sex and many will be on hand tomorrow to see the brilliant young statesman, "who married the millionaire heiress."

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Editor of the Republican, and I Want the People of Rushville to Know that I Write the Following Voluntarily.—Harry L. Goodiel.

I write these few lines out of gratitude for what Mi-o-na has done for me for dyspepsia and indigestion.

I have suffered for the past five years, and have tried different doctors, but have had no relief until I bought a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na from our drug store (R. W. McCawton's) here a short time ago.

The first box did me so much good that I immediately purchased another one, and I now feel better than I have at any time in the past five years. Am able to eat anything and everything, and get a good night's sleep afterwards.

Was so bad at one time that all I was able to eat for over a month was a raw egg in a half a glass of milk, two or three times daily.

I would earnestly advise anyone suffering as I was from dyspepsia, to give this remedy a fair trial. I remain, gratefully yours, Harry L. Goodiel, No. 9½ River St., Ashtabula, Ohio.

Mi-o-na is the only logical dyspepsia remedy on the market today. It is not a digester. It does not contain a particle of pepsin. It cures by building up the muscular walls of the stomach, and making the stomach so strong and perfect that it is able without artificial help to digest an ordinary meal with ease, and without discomfort.

The experience of Mr. Goodiel is a common one, and it is safe to say that Mi-o-na tablets have cured more acute and chronic diseases of the stomach than any other remedy. F. B. Johnson & Co. sell it at 50 cents a box, and guarantee it to cure or money back.

WAS CLASSMATE OF JIM WATSON

Harry L. Gordon of Cincinnati Spoke to a Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

DISCUSSED NATIONAL ISSUES

Makes Earnest Appeal to the Voters of the State to Vote on Right Side of Great Moral Issue.

Harry L. Gordon of Cincinnati spoke to a large audience at the Republican headquarters last night. He discussed the leading issues of the national campaign in a very convincing manner and dwelt only for a short time upon State questions.

Mr. Gordon, who was a classmate of James E. Watson in DePauw University spoke very highly of him and of the principles for which he stood. He said that he was the one man in the State of Indiana to run upon the platform adopted at the convention in Indianapolis.

The speaker then discussed the tariff question at length, saying that protection was the thing which the Republican party stood for, while on the other hand, the Democratic party had the "tariff for revenue only" plank in their platform which practically means free trade and not only that, but the Republican party has pledged itself to call a special session of the legislature to regulate tariff on all articles.

"But," said Mr. Gordon, "protective tariff is not only protection to American industries, but also protection to American workmen." He then depicted the scenes of '93 when Coxey's army was formed and skilled workmen walked the streets from morning until night looking for work. Then Mr. Bryan came to the front with his free silver theory and said, open the mints, and allow the free coinage of silver, but President McKinley said, open the mills and establish a solid gold standard.

McKinley was elected and prosperity returned and Mr. Bryan has been bobbing up ever since with a new theory each campaign, which has been proven impracticable and likewise impossible.

Mr. Gordon closed his speech with an appeal to the fathers of the country, asking them to vote on the right side of the great moral question—the temperance question—which is an issue in this campaign.

SOCIETY NEWS

The marriage of Miss Bertha Megee and Mr. Derby Green was announced last night at the regular Tri Kappa meeting held at the home of Miss Helen Campbell. After the refreshments had been served, mints with cards tied on them imparted the intelligence of the announcement. The marriage will occur in December.

Miss Mary Schattner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schattner of North Main street, and Mr. Henry Heckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heckman, Sr., living southwest of this city, will be married at the Catholic church Thursday, November 12, by Rev. Walter Cronin. The banns of their marriage were published from the Catholic church pulpit last Sunday.

TRIAL OF CARTHAGE PEOPLE POSTPONED

Case Against Strawboard Works Will Not be Heard Until November.

RETURN SEVEN INDICTMENTS

One of the cases of the State of Indiana against the United States Board and Paper Company of Carthage which was to have been called for trial Monday, was postponed until November 5, by Judge Mason, says the Greenfield Star. This is the first of seven indictments against this company returned by the last Hancock county grand jury.

The company is charged with maintaining a nuisance and also with killing the fish in Blue river by dumping its refuse into the stream.

WAS RUN DOWN BY BICYCLE

Tom Conroy Received Injuries, But the Other Fellow—

Thomas Conroy, head chef at the Conroy restaurant here, was run down by a bicycle rider in Indianapolis yesterday and sustained a painful injury on the leg. "But you ought to see the other fellow," says Conroy with a great deal of satisfaction. He was thrown on his head for his reckless riding.

BY THE WAYSIDE

If you have time to stop and "look at" these glorious October skies to observe the gold and russet and crimson of the forests, to inhale the balm and the ozone of this rare, ripe weather, and let the country save itself for a few minutes, you are to be congratulated. The "circle of the sun" is being run in magnificent days and months, truly ornate and beautiful. Life is a trifle dry, a little dusty, but after all really worth living when nature paints her warm hues of crimson and gold on her forests and sets her stars in azure.

Every town has a few or two, a smart aleck, some pretty girls, more loafers than it needs, a woman that rattles, an old fogey the town would be better off without, men who stand on the street corners and make remarks about women, the man who laughs an idiotic laugh every time he says anything, scores of men with the caboose of their trousers worn smooth as glass, men who can tell you just how the war question ought to have been settled, foretell the weather and how to run other people's business—all of whom have made dismal failures of their own, but the old maid, who quietly and without remorse takes things as they come and says nothing.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair Association will meet in the assembly room on Oct. 31, 1908, at 1 o'clock p. m. to elect officers for the ensuing year. WILLIAM L. KING, Secretary. 191-1td2tw

The Books Are Opened!

Read! Meditate! Figure!

A local paper has asked that the county books be opened. It has intimated that the disclosures might be startling. Such has been the case.

The county tax levy is less than 50 cents on the $100 and is levied equally throughout the county. The township trustee, together with his advisory board, levies the tax in his township, and he and they are responsible for the levy.

The table below shows the levy in each of the townships, seven of which are under Republican rule and five under Democratic rule. From the Democratic wail we would expect the lowest rate in the Democratic townships.

What does the record show?

The average rate of taxes in the five Democratic townships levied last September is 21 11/14 cents higher than the average in the seven Republican townships.

For the 1907 the average in the Democratic townships was 24 3/7 cents higher than in the Republican townships.

For 1906 the Democratic townships asked 36 39/70 cents on the hundred dollars MORE than the Republican townships, and for 1905 they were 23 1/5 cents higher.

Does this prove Democratic economy and Republican extravagance?

You who live in Democratic townships can, by a little calculation, find exactly what Democracy in your township has cost you.

Notice the following table carefully and ask your Democratic neighbor to explain. Hold him to the records.
